

Declaration of Independence for Academic Work at the Zurich Center for Linguistics

Original Work

I expressly declare that the written work submitted by me with the title is an original work written by myself without unauthorized assistance and in my own words.

.....

If the work is by more than one author, I confirm that the relevant parts of the work are correctly and clearly identified and clearly attributable to the respective author.

Furthermore, I confirm that the thesis as a whole or in parts has not already been submitted to the University of Zurich or to any other university or educational institution as compensation for other academic achievements, nor will it be submitted in the future as compensation for another academic achievement.

Use of Sources

I expressly declare that all references to external sources (including tables, graphs, etc.) contained in the above-mentioned work have been marked as such. In particular, I confirm that, without exception and to the best of my knowledge, I have indicated the authorship of both verbatim statements (quotations) and statements by other authors reproduced in my own words (paraphrases).

Sanctions

I acknowledge that work which violates the principles of the Declaration of Independence - in particular work which contains quotations or paraphrases without indication of origin - will be considered plagiarism and may result in the corresponding legal and disciplinary consequences (according to §§ 7ff of the Disciplinary Regulations of the University of Zurich as well as § 36 of the Framework Regulations for Studies in the Bachelor's and Master's Programs of the Faculty of Humanities of the University of Zurich).

With my signature, I confirm the accuracy of this information and allow the course instructor to check the work with plagiarism software, which will save the work for future comparison.
